Qualities

1. PROOF

The highest and most valuable minting quality. 'Proof' coins and strikes are minted with specially polished dies. The background and relief must be flawless.

2. Uncirculated

Coins and strikes with the usual metal glow and a brilliant finish, that have not been in circulation and do not have any recognisable flaws.

3. Extremely Fine

Coins of this quality may be slightly worn from circulation. They may have very slight flaws in the coin field and some traces of mint lustre.

4. Very Fine

Very Fine coins are moderately worn. Small traces of use are visible and there may be wear on the highest points of the coin, but that should not significantly affect the relief and the inscription should be readable.

5. Fine

A coin of this description may be very worn. It will show significant signs of use and may have some flaws, but the entire motif and inscription should be clearly recognisable. For coins circa 1900, there is little interest in collecting coins of this quality grading.
